Let's Start!

Let's talk about the safari and the animals!

Learning Outcome

Accurately use information about people's jobs and places of work in communicative situations.

Ask your partner:

- Do you want to go on a safari?
Where?
- What animals would you like to see?
Why?

Can Do Statements

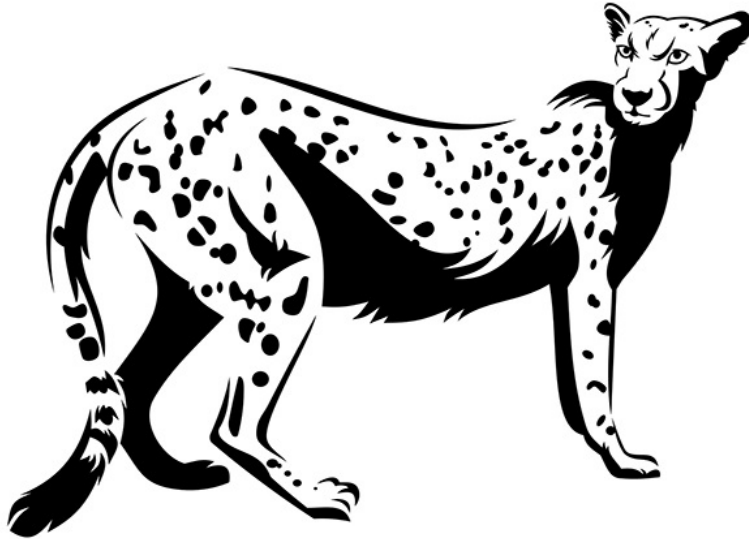

- I can talk about travel and things to do on a trip.
- I can talk about or report on actions, events or people.
- I can compare two or more things.

Let's Explore!

Sally tells Vanessa all about her safari adventure! What did she see?

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Vanessa: Hey, Sally! What did you do today?
Sally: I went on an African safari! It was the best!
Vanessa: Cool. What did you see?
Sally: We saw lions. They hunt together at night, not like leopards. Leopards hunt alone. Lions are faster than leopards, too.
Vanessa: Not as fast as cheetahs, though. They're the fastest!
Sally: The lions rest in the shade during the day. They looked magnificent lying there with their manes blowing.
Vanessa: Only male lions have manes, right?
Sally: That's right. Did you know that lions are smaller than tigers? I always thought lions were bigger. Turns out the tigers are the largest.
Vanessa: I didn't. Did you see any other animals?
Sally: Yes. We went on elephant rides. It was the most amazing experience. We fed them bananas, and the coolest part was to see the elephants lift their trunks.
Vanessa: Sounds like you had a blast!

Let's Practice!

Let's practice with some adjectives!

Instructions: Read the text. Select the different forms of the adjective in the table. There could be more than one answer per question.

	faster	fastest	most amazing	smaller	as fast as	coolest
cool
fast small amazing

Let's Practice!

Could you tell me what happened earlier?

Instructions: Find and fix the mistake. Each sentence has 1 mistake.

1. I go on an African safari!
2. What do you see?
3. We see lions.
4. The lions look magnificent lying in the shade with their manes blowing.
5. I always think lions were bigger than tigers.
6. We feed the elephants bananas.
7. Sounds like you have a blast!

Extension Activity

You are going to explore the cat family!

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Go on the Internet and find out about all the members of the cat family.
- Choose one animal.
- Write 5-6 sentences about the animal you chose. Describe it.
- Now choose another type of cat. Compare this animal to one you wrote about.
- Write 3 sentences about how they are the same.
- Write 2 sentences about how they are different. Remember to use comparatives and superlatives.
- Read your sentences aloud to the class.

Target Words

- leopard (noun): a member of the cat family, with yellow fur and black spots.
e.g. Leopards are slower than lions.
- to hunt (verb): to chase animals and kill them e.g. The lion hunts at night.
- cheetah (noun): a member of the cat family, with long legs and black spots.
e.g. The cheetah is the fastest land animal in the world.
- to rest (verb): to lie down to relax
e.g. The lions rest in the shade.
- mane (noun): the long hair around the face and neck of a lion e.g. The lion's mane blows in the wind.
- tiger (noun): a large member of the cat family, with orange and black lines on its body
e.g. The tiger is larger than the lion.
- trunk (noun): the long nose of an elephant
e.g. The elephant lifted its trunk.

Learning Points

On a Safari

A safari is a trip to observe wild animals, especially in Africa.

When you talk about a safari, you use the verb "to go":

- I went on a safari.

You talk about the different animals, for example:

- I saw many elephants or I didn't see any lions.

You can talk about the geographic features, for example:

- I saw many hills.

When you talk to someone about a safari you went on, they can ask questions like:

- Which country did you go to?

- What did you see?

- Did you see any lions?

Learning Points

Comparatives and Superlatives

You can use adjectives to compare two things. These are called comparative adjectives. You can also use adjectives to compare one item with the rest of a group. These are called superlative adjectives.

For regular comparative adjectives, you can use the structure:

- adjective (-er) than

Use this when the adjective in question is a short, one-syllable word.

e.g. small → smaller

- adjective (-ier) than

Use this if the adjective ends in -y and has two syllables.

e.g. happy → happier

- more/less + adjective + than

Use this if the adjective has 2 or more syllables. The adjective does not change.

e.g. careful → more careful, boring → less boring

There are a few exceptions, however: simple → simpler, narrow → narrower

- as + adjective + as

Use this when comparing two things that are the same regarding the adjective in question. The adjective does not change.

e.g. I'm as fast as you.

For regular superlative adjectives, you can use the structure:

- the adjective (-est)

Use this when the adjective in question is a short, one-syllable word.

e.g. small → smallest

- the adjective (-iest)

Use this if the word ends in -y and has two syllables.

e.g. happy → happiest

- the most/least + adjective

Use this if the adjective has 2 or more syllables. The adjective does not change.

e.g. careful → most careful, boring → most boring

There are a few exceptions, however: simple → simplest, narrow → narrowest

Examples:

- The lion is smaller than the tiger.
- The cheetah is the fastest animal in the cat family.
- It was the best trip!
